Von Roll honored as top employer in the SME sector

The well-established Swiss company Von Roll Holding AG has won several awards and can once again count itself among the best employers in Germany and Switzerland in the current year 2023. The internationally active medium-sized company thus proves once again that a modern corporate culture that leaves room for creativity and a family-like working atmosphere pay off.

The lack of skilled workers across all industries poses enormous challenges for many companies. Employees can now choose their employer, which has led to fierce competition for qualified specialists and managers. Companies today have to offer applicants a lot in terms of corporate culture, working atmosphere, development opportunities and variety of tasks in order to win them over. That means creative strategies are needed to identify and inspire suitable employees for one's own company.

The Von Roll Group repeatedly succeeds in retaining outstandingly qualified young talent for the long term and is demonstrably one of the top employers in Germany and Switzerland. This is proven by several recent ratings in both countries. For example, Von Roll Deutschland GmbH not only made it onto the shortlist of the Human Resources Excellence Awards in the category "Candidate Experience", but was also named a Top Medium-Sized Employer in Germany 2023 by Focus magazine. In Switzerland, too, Von Roll is one of the employers with "High attractiveness" according to the online panels conducted by ServiceValue. This rating is only awarded to employers with above-average survey results. The nationwide survey examined companies that enjoy a particularly good reputation among the public.

In addition, the Swiss hidden champion was voted by its employees among the top 5 percent of the most popular employers on kununu, the best-known employer rating platform in the German-speaking world with 1.1 million registered companies. As a result, Von Roll has qualified for the title of "Top Company 2023", as it did last year.

"We are very pleased to be ranked among the best employers in Germany and Switzerland, both in objective rankings and in the eyes of our employees. For us, it is important to find those who best fit Von Roll and, of course, to keep them. Respectful and trusting interaction is just as essential for this as very short decision-making processes and a high degree of personal responsibility," explains Jürgen Geiger, Global Head of Human Resources at Von Roll Holding AG.
